This past week sailing Challenger 2 with Tall Ships Youth Trust has been a fantastic opportunity. It's really shown me what I can do, and I've learnt so much about the navigation system, helming, checking for wind direction and making sure the sails are in the correct positions.

About us

Tall Ships Youth Trust is the UK’s oldest and largest youth development sail training charity.

With a focus on helping the most disadvantaged and vulnerable in our society, we provide young people aged 12-25 with genuinely life-changing experiences at sea.

Of the young people who sailed with us in 2019, 97% (665) of respondents to our survey have gone on to employment, education or training and our voyages were viewed as the catalyst for improving their skills and attitudes.

Out on the open water, young people, from mixed backgrounds and with different abilities form a small community and together they develop life skills, confidence and self-esteem. This experience empowers them to realise their true potential and make positive life choices.

Sailing with us can be one of the most significant moments in the lives of young people, helping them to focus on the future, giving them direction and purpose, and opening their minds to a future previously seen as out of reach.

Our Impact

What the young people say

The voyage made my mental health a lot better, I didn’t have so much to think about and I could clear my mind.

Dwayne (13)

It was so liberating after being stuck at home through the pandemic lockdowns to get out under the huge sky and on the open water.

How you can make a difference

Tall Ships Youth Trust couldn’t do this important and life-changing work without the support of organisations and people like you.

The Covid-19 pandemic has had a dramatic and adverse effect on the lives of our young people with an increase in reported stress and anxiety from all walks of life. However, those living in our poorer communities with reduced access to quality education and opportunities have been the hardest hit, which means the demand for our voyages is greater than ever.

Please help us, to help them. There are many ways you can get involved through donating, individual fundraising, volunteering and corporate sponsorships.

More than 120,000 trainees have sailed over 2 million nautical miles with us over 65 years.

96% have better team working skills and 93% are able to manage their feelings better*.

75% of young people who sail with us are disadvantaged or disabled, 93% return home with increased confidence and self-esteem, 94% have improved communication skills.

*Outcomes based on 77% of survey respondents who sailed with us in 2019/20.
